

Mark Stutzman

SVP, Product and Technology

As a digital strategist, product specialist and executive technologist, Mark plays a critical role in continually evolving strategic product and technical direction as Wylei's Chief Product Officer. Mark brings entrepreneurial and product expertise acquired from more than 20 years of delivering elegant, effective, scalable applications.

Throughout his career, Mark has held executive roles for multiple high-tech start-ups. Some of the businesses he has helped to develop include Appmobi, Digital Variant, PointOne, Bolt.com, and Outpost.com. Mark began his career at IBM where he was responsible for building IBM's first direct sales, online commerce site, ShopIBM.

Mark has a degree from State University of New York at New Paltz, which is where he met his wife Breida. The two fell in love with New Paltz, the Shawangunk mountains, and the Hudson Valley of NY - purchased an historic colonial home and settled down to raise their 2 children in the town of Gardiner, NY. Beyond his love for technology, Mark spends his time working on his old house (which is listed on the US Register of Historic Places), collecting antiques, skiing, relaxing by the pool with his family, and dabbling in real estate investments.
